- Extra route, Longueville – Lane Cove (Gentle St), commenced, as noted in Govt Gazette 27 May 1927.

23 December 1946:

- Extra route, Longueville – City (Wynyard), commenced in response to gradual cancellation of Circular Quay – Figtree ferry service, which called at Northwood & Longueville wharves.
- The ferry service was originally cancelled and the new bus route ran during the weekday off-peak and Saturday & Sunday afternoons.
- Extra trips were provided on 127 in response to further cuts in the ferry service:

- Ran on Sundays & possibly Saturday afternoons (when ceased?), replacing Wynyard – Lane Cove tram service.

1949: Extra off-peak service, Lane Cove (Blaxlands Corner) – Lane Cove West (Penrose St), commenced.

February 1957: Longueville Motor Bus Co transferred to Mrs Elizabeth Newman upon the death of her husband, George Newman.

7 February 1983:

- City (Wynyard) – Longueville (part of 127) & City (Wynyard) – Northwood (part of 224) merged into a single route, as most of the route was common. As a result, 127, 169 & 224 [all 1925 route numbers] rearranged as:

CAMPBELLTOWN – CAMDEN – CAMDEN SOUTH

Also:

- Trips to/diversion via Catherine Field (El Caballo Blanco)

(El Caballo Blanco was an entertainment venue in Hume Hwy [now Camden Valley Way] approx opposite Catherine Fields Rd, Catherine Field.)

(The Camden bus depot terminus was in Hume Hwy near Dobroyd Av. After road layout changes, the location is in current Ironbark Av, Camden.)

(Locations of Camden South Estates: Ponderosa Estate - south of Burragorang Rd & west of [now Old] Hume Hwy; Elizabeth Macarthur Estate - east of [now Old] Hume Hwy.)

This history covers periods when the route was unnumbered & numbered with a 1925 route number.

Timeline

Unnumbered period 1950s

By early 1950s: (Probably) unnumbered limited weekday service, Camden – Elderslie – Narellan, commenced (probably from inception) by GW (George) Higlett, proprietor.

23 January (or 23 February?) 1961:

- Extended to run Campbelltown – Camden, probably incorporating unnumbered Camden – Elderslie – Narellan.
- By 1966, Camden terminus was at depot, Hume Hwy [now Ironbark Av].
- Ran in competition with the steam-hauled Campbelltown-Camden railway until it closed on 1 January 1963.

May 1966: Operator incorporated as Higlett's Motor Coach Service Pty Ltd.

By 5 May 1968: Camden terminus was extended to South Camden (Elizabeth Macarthur Av). Most morning trips from Camden started from that point, while all trips to Camden were extended there on request.

1 July 1972: All weekday daytime trips permanently ran Campbelltown – South Camden (Elizabeth Macarthur Av) in both directions. Night & weekend trips to Camden continued to be extended to Elizabeth Macarthur Av on request.

Mid-1970s: Unnumbered/route number unknown service, Camden – Camden South (Ponderosa Estate & Elizabeth Macarthur Estate), commenced in weekday off-peak by Camden Coaches Pty Ltd (HE Hunt & Sons, proprietors; manager, Dick Howlett), serving new residential areas south of the Elizabeth Macarthur Av terminus of Higlett's.

8 December 1976: Higlett's South Camden terminus shown in timetable as Ulmarra Av (possibly start of loop?).

By October 1977: Additional service between Campbelltown & Camden, mainly early morning, afternoon & late night, provided by unnumbered Camden – Oakdale (Camden Country) trips extended to Campbelltown. These trips had ceased by 25 December 1991.

2 September 1978: Selected peak hour trips rerouted via Macarthur Bridge, avoiding Narellan & Camden. Most of these trips extended to Cowper Dr in South Camden.

By 7 July 1980:

- Rerouted via Macarthur Square shops during off-peak & Saturday mornings (later also Thursday nights).
- Timetable of this date suggests that Camden – Camden South trips run by Camden Coaches had been transferred to Higlett's Motor Coach Service & incorporated into its route in Ponderosa Estate & Elizabeth Macarthur Estate.
- Infrequent service on Thursdays-Saturdays, Campbelltown – Catherine Field (El Caballo Blanco), commenced.
- Additional off-peak trips ran via Macarthur Bridge. All trips via Macarthur Bridge ran to/via Ponderosa Estate in Camden South.

By 29 November 1983:

- Days of service of Campbelltown – Catherine Field (El Caballo Blanco) service altered to weekends only (Sundays only by 9 April 1984) & became diversions of Campbelltown – Camden South trips.
- Service via Macarthur Bridge reduced to 1 trip from Campbelltown in afternoon peak hour only.

June 1986: Transferred to Macarthur Coaches Pty Ltd (Rowe family, proprietors).

1989: Operator's name changed to Busways Macarthur Pty Ltd.

31 January 1989: Renumbered into Sydney Region route numbers:

895 Campbelltown – Camden South

Campbelltown – Catherine Field

896 Camden – Narellan (Richardson Rd/Lodges Rd) (new route or previous school route?).
